A MESSAGE FROM Father Peter

The Mercy of Praying for the Departed

Typically after celebrating a funeral, I go ahead of the Mourners early to the cemetery. I do this so that prior to them arriving, I can spend the waiting time in prayer, praying for all the people who have been buried in that particular cemetery. The cemetery's natural beauty is breathtaking, but its spiritual bounty is far greater. It is here, more than anywhere else, that I learned to pray for souls; and it is here that I learned how those souls also pray for us.

You of course will read any number of names and dates on the head-stones: some looking quite new, and quite a few where the head-stones, exposed so long to the relentless march of time, appear so faded as to not be able to read those names and dates, their names all but erased in history.

In the end, no matter how they look, the headstones represent life: hearts that pulsed, lungs that breathed, eyes that opened and closed, day after day, until a temporal night opened the possibility of an eternal morning.

It often dawned on me that many of them might not have anyone alive who still pray for the peaceful repose of their souls.

For example, seeing the dates 1908 to 1923 and wondering about the young teenage boy buried there. What could have caused his death at 15? And how did his parents handle the loss?

Or passing three graves side by side of a FATHER—1871-1929; MOTHER—1874-1948; and SON—1893-1894. Thinking about the mom, how young she was when she gave birth to her son whose soul must have just broken when he died at the age of one, and broken again years later when she lost her husband.

The only way any of this bears hope—for children to die young, for parents to lose children and spouses, for old people to leave behind their loved ones—the only way it bears hope is in the light of eternity. Only in Christ can these headstones reveal the truth of the lives they honor. Only in Christ can that teenage boy and his parents be reunited. Only in Him can those parents hold their infant son again. Only in Him can all those who passed find a life that does not end in death.

And somehow, in the divine plan, God has given us, who live in the here and now, a way to help make sure all those souls are resting in eternal light. Our prayers for them can help them reach heaven sooner if that is needed. And since God is outside of time, those prayers can stretch back into 1923, 1894, 1889, or whenever they are most needed.

As we hear from the prayer often recited at Wakes:

Lord our God, the death of our brother/sister recalls our human condition and the brevity of our lives here on earth...but for those who believe in your love death is not the end nor does it destroy the bonds that you forge in our lives. We share the faith of your Son's disciples and the hope of the Children of God. Bring the light of Christ's Resurrection to this time of testing and pain as we pray for our brother or sister and those who love him or her...through Christ our Lord Amen.

And those prayers are needed most of all for those souls who still suffer the pains of purgatory.

One of the great champions for praying for the dead and those in purgatory is Saint Gertrude, whose Feast Day the Church celebrates November 16th...the month when we typically remember in an extra special more solemn way those who have passed.

St. Gertrude the Great was a holy mystic of the 14th century, who began receiving heavenly visions at age 25 while living in a Benedictine community. Among her mystical visions was a glimpse into Purgatory.

There she saw a man she was praying for and his soul appeared as a toad, suffering from the sins he committed on earth. After reciting a short prayer for him, she asked Jesus if it had any effect. He replied by saying, "Certainly, the souls in Purgatory are lifted up by such supplications, but also brief prayers that are said with fervor are of even greater benefit for them."

The Church has always taught that it is a Spiritual Work of Mercy to pray for the souls of the faithful departed, imploring God to purify the souls of the dead "by the fire of his charity" and to bring them at last to their Heavenly Home.

During one of these visions Gertrude was given a prayer by Jesus for the Holy Souls in Purgatory. It is piously believed that 1,000 souls are released from purgatory by praying this prayer with the heart.

Below is this powerful prayer, one that trusts in the unfathomable mercy of God, poured out for us on Calvary.

Eternal Father, I offer Thee the Most Precious Blood of Thy Divine Son, Jesus, in union with the Masses said throughout the world today, for all the holy souls in Purgatory, for sinners everywhere, for sinners in the universal Church, those in my own home and within my family. Amen.

The Rescue Project - Introductory Session

November 12

Do you have doubts about your Faith in a world that is so confusing? Are you unsure of how it all should fit together in these complicated times we live in? Do you just want to know more about our Catholic faith? St. Rose will be presenting "The Rescue Project" series by Fr. John Ricciardo, where we'll be hearing a new take on the history of Jesus' coming and Resurrection. Join us in Holy Innocents on November 12 at 7:30pm for a conversation previewing the video series, camaraderie with fellow parishioners, and hopefully the rekindling of your faith. Interested in learning more? Contact Pedro Saboia at pedrosab@gmail.com to register or for more information. "Seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you. (Matthew 7:7)
